

STANFORD, KY.

Friday Morning, April 26, 1879.

LOCAL NOTICES.

NEW JACK—Our best sweet navy tobacco.
Send your prescriptions to McRoberts & Stagg.

Take your pictures to the Gallery to be framed & shipped.

Full stock of Fishing Tackle at McRoberts & Stagg's.

Frames, any size, made to order at the Picture Gallery.

A new lot of Picture Mounting just received at the Picture Gallery.

J. H. & S. H. SHAWES have received a splendid lot of Catalog and Lists.

PHYSICIANS' prescriptions accurately compounded at Chenuant & Penny's.

McROBERTS & STAGG have the latest styles of Wall Paper, and very cheap.

Linen stock of Middlings and Picture Frames at Bottom Prices at Chenuant & Penny's.

MAYHEM-TACK a popular and fragrant perfume. Sold by Chenuant & Penny, Stanford.

ATTENTION, FARMERS—A full stock of Tools, Poles, Lines, Hooks, &c., at Chenuant & Penny's.

FRESH HAM, PORK and Sausage will be found at all times at A. J. Harris', Chenuant's old stand.

At all our Accounts and Notes will be satisfied if not settled immediately, Anderson, McRoberts & Stagg.

Buy your garden seeds from Chenuant & Penny. All kinds, Landreth's, Briggs & Bro's, and Penny's. Fresh and genuine.

As this is the season for painting your houses, you can find a complete set of Lead, Oils and colors at Chenuant & Penny's.

J. H. & S. H. SHAWES are just receiving and sending a lot of Ladies' and Children's Shoes, made by the Zeigler Footwear of Philadelphia. Best goods made.

Why will you suffer with Hypersensitivity, Consumption, and general debility, when you can get at our store Shillib's System Vitalizer which we sell on a positive guarantee to cure you. Price 10 cts. and 25 cts. For sale by Chenuant & Penny, Stanford.

DON'T BE DECEIVED.—Many persons say "I haven't got the Consumption" when asked to enter theirough with Shillib's Consumption Cure. Do they not know that the Consumption Cure is a sure remedy that will cure Consumption will certainty and surely cure a cough or any kind of throat trouble. We know it will cure when all others fail and our faith in it is so positive that we will refund the price paid if you receive no benefit. Is not this a fair proposition. Price 10cts., 25 cts. and $1 per bottle. For ladies' best, Mrs. Shillib's, 10cts. Price Blister. Price 25 cts. For sale by Chenuant & Penny, Stanford.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Corsets," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles. The poems are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

PERSONAL.

MISS JUDITH GUEST, a Boyle county beauty, is to tour yesterday.

MISS KATE HARRIS, of Chenuant's, is a guest at Mrs. J. Deaderick's.

MR. S. H. MEARS was elected Grand Conductor of the O. O. M. A. at Louisville last week.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERTSON, of Goshen, visited the family of Capt. Geo. H. McKinney this week.

MR. CHARLES E. ROBERTS, Ticket Agent of the Wabash R. R., in Louisville, Ill., was a guest of S. H. Myers this week.

MISS JANE McALFEE and DAWSON came over from Lexington last Friday and spent several days with relatives here.

MISS BETTY SCOTT, of Harrodsburg, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Edie Pulten, of this county, returned home several days ago.

MISS ELLIE HUMPHREY, of Danville, and Miss ALICE WHITRITT, wife of Lancaster's prettiest and best, were guests of Mrs. H. Bruce this week.

J. T. BONNEY, the busy owner of Warren county, is in town a few moments this week. He seems to be the man who has struck a lucky streak this time.

MR. THOMAS BURGESS and his interesting family to town Tuesday for their future home in Peabody, Kansas. Mr. Burgess has for years been a worthy and popular citizen of this place, and the friends of friends that he leaves, echo his great popularity in his departure.

MR. LEONARD BROWN, who has been spending several months in New Orleans, returned yesterday, with Miss Alice Timmings, a lovely young lady of that city. Miss Fannie is looking her prettiest, and speaks in the highest praise of the young South. Mr. John M. Reid met the young ladies in Louisville.

THE FOLLOWING visiting lawyers are attending the present term of the court: Judge M. J. Hargrave, a citizen of this county, was found on the roadside between town and the Junction, in an apparently dying condition. He was taken to the Junction, and Dr. McRoberts sent for, who worked with him until 4 o'clock a. m. yesterday, when he died, from the effects of the two ounces of laudanum that he had taken with suicidal intent. The drug was taken in Shanks Sponemann's bar-room, Clary at the time remarking that it was medicine, and although he had previously remarked that he expected to be in hell in a few minutes, no one paid any attention to him as he was thought to be drinking. He was a son-in-law of Bertram Spratt, and leaves a crippled wife and a little child in very destitute circumstances, who will perhaps be better off without him. The following letter was found on his person:

APRIL 24, 1879.—Dear Sirs.—I am, etc.

THE GOOD TEMPLERS held an election for officers, to-morrow.... The uregs that got him still washed on Clean day is nearly well.... Jimmy Carson's flower stand is the most popular in town.

S. C. COMMENCEMENT.—Mrs. S. C. Trueheart, the Principal, informs us that the Commencement Exercises of the Stanford Female College will begin on Sunday, June 8th, with a sermon by Dr. A. W. White, Secretary of the Board of Missions, and close on Thursday evening, June 12th, with an address by Dr. O. P. McAlister, editor of the Nashville Christian Advocate. Both of these divines have national reputations, and will make the closing exercises all the more interesting.

LOCAL MATTERS.

GERMAN MILLET SOLD at Weston & Evans.

A FRESH LOT of Flowers received last evening at Carson & Dodd's.

SOFT WATER.—Bush is the first to furnish this cold and refreshing drink. Call and try a glass.

MILLERY.—Mrs. J. S. Fish has opened a general assortment of Millinery at Chenuant, and invites the patronage of the public.

JUST RECEIVED our third invoice of Youtis' and Boys' Clothing, ranging from 7 to 14 years of age. Bright, new and durable. Geo. H. Bruce & Co.

AGENTS WANTED.—To sell the genuine Singer Sewing Machine. To good men we will pay salaries. Call on, or address A. C. Snow, Manager, 2nd St., Danville, Ky.

NOTICE.—I am compelled to have the money due me on last year's accounts, and if not paid at once, I shall tally the victim of the law. This is no idle talk. J. N. Davis.

SUCK.—John Ferrell, who killed old man Sutton, is lying in jail, apparently quite ill, and it will probably be best for him if his illness continue till the present Court convenes.

THANKS.—We have received from W. N. Potts, Danville, a sack of flour made by his new patent process. It makes excellent bread, and we can heartily recommend the brand to all consumers.

TAX PAYERS.—I am determined to clean up my business, and I now give fair warning that I will advertise every man who fails to pay his taxes by next County Court. Read this and show it to your neighbor. It is a last appeal. A. M. McElroy.

FRUITFUL AGREEMENT.—Thomas Brown, a fugitive from Bracken county, was arrested near Prestonsburg, in this county, on Tuesday, charged with burglary. He had forfeited a $1,000-bond for his appearance, and his sureties were exceedingly anxious for his immediate return; so the officer took him straight on to Bracken.

PAINTING UP.—The National Mutual Insurance Company, Louisville, has commenced with P. A. Hillard, and paid him a satisfactory amount in full of the policy taken by his mother in his favor. The Company has tendered in Mrs. Anderson, wife of James Anderson, who was killed by the ears recently, near Mt. Vernon, $500 of the amount due him, though no part is due for two months yet.

L. & N. R. T.—We received the following telegram from Col. C. P. Atchison, General Ticket Agent, last night: "We have arranged to run a special train to Louisville, May 1st, to accommodate delegates to the Democratic Convention. It will pass Stanford & Co. & and arrive at Louisville 9:30 A. M. Tickets will be sold at one fare for the round trip, good returning until May 3d, and they will be good coming to Louisville on regular train, April 30th.

COURT CLOTHES.—The Right Place—Stanford is the right place to visit, and the great Emporium of the literature of A. G. Gilded Pill—A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of this deservedly popular magazine contains 128 quarto pages, and is well bound. Price 25 cents, and the annual subscription $3, postpaid; the publication, therefore, may be regarded as a marvel of cheapness. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 73, 75 and 77, Park Place, New York.

THE STORY OF THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, has an interesting article on the elaborate and highly interesting history of the Atlantic Telegraph from the inception of the enterprise, by Alfred H. Guernsey. The contributors are among the most talented writers, and the article is a fine intellectual entertainment to the literate. A "Gilded Pill," "A Tale of a Little Mystery," by Mrs. Manville Penn, which promises to be of stirring interest. There are short stories by Jane G. Austin, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and other celebrated authors. "The Fair," "Funeral Rites and Ceremonies," "Vivian Grey," "The Slave Life," are particularly noteworthy descriptive articles.

THE POEMS are by John Francis Waller, Park Benjamin, etc., etc. The Miscellany is abundant and highly entertaining. Each number of

